What Women Car Do.—The ladies of Gieveland have a Soidlers' Aid Society which, on Monday, sent off to the hospitals in Western Virginia and at Cairo, supplies the raw material of which cost $1,200. They are prepring to do even better than this, in their next grand shipment, considering the extraordinary demands from Missouri.

At lest European advices, England was occupied with Gorchakoff's dispates to our Government. John Sull sees in it antipathy to bim, and as intention on the part of Russis and the United States to form an alliance against Grat Britain. He declares that equally friendly sentiments from himself were repulsed, and intera deep designs. Journals and letters alike speak of this as the current topic in England and on the continent.

The prompt action of the North ern health in guarantecling the original loans and the apparent readment of the promise to capital loans. But the criginal subscribers, had done much to assure Europeans of our ability to maintain the Union, as it gave them unmissable evidence that we were firmly determined to do so. If there has been any doubt about of the utilizate success of the North, it has been because there was a belief that the North was not in earnest. The prompt taking of the loan has disaipsted this feeling and restored confidence in our patriotism and determination. My informant, who came over in the Singara, assures me that he has personal anowincing that a large amount of capital its De North will make acquaintance with those burthens of establishments and taxston which have so long tried the Governments of the Old World, and the South, even if it retains with its independence all its territorial privileges, will find that its monopoly of the European market has been rudely disturbed.

With all these contingencies looming darking around as, it is at least a satisfaction to observe, both that the condition of the cotton manufacture is favorable to our present efforts, and that the operatives of Lancashire are looking at the subject like sensible men. The first resource in such straits as the present is evidently to limit the rate of production, and this, we are teld, can be done not only without much disadvantage to the trade, but with a positive gain. It is said that production has recently been carried too far, and that the stocks of manufacturing goods are every whose

The Situation in Western Virginia.—From the Chodmant Commercial, 10th.]

The wherehouts of General Lee is not accurately known, but it is conjectured by some that he proposes to enter! Eastern Kentucky, and that his column condicts of 10,000 mea. This is, however, more conjecture. The latest reliable intelligence from Rosscraws it up to Sunday horning, at which time a considerable not had any battle as reported, though the troops at Gasiny thought they heard cannonading on the lith uit. There was no expectation of an attempt to force his position. This intelligence is entirely reliable, and will relieve apprehensions that some have fait as to his safety. The weather in the Gauley region is terribly bad. The rain fair almost increasing. There have not been forty-eight hours clear weather for some time. The troops have to entare hardships that tell unfavorably upon their sanitary condition. Two hundred sick, prostrated by fewer or disable by rheumatism, were sent to the hospitals by ine Gienwood. The troops of Rosscran's column are well clothed, having plenty of overcosts for those who have to stand guard. It is to be hoped these will at once be provided. They would save many valuables lives.

which leads us to believe that the remor has its foundation is fact. One report, in which we place confidence, says that the Federal forces took pessession of the city on the 5th inst, without firing a gun. It is said that the flect, after the descrition of Ship Island by the rebels, possed Massissipple City, Bloid and Passe Christian, which were executed, and made an easy conquest of the city. It was found-that the incomplete fortifications at Bay St. Louis had been abandoned by the rebels, and the city surrendered on the 5th instant, in compilance with the formal demand of the commander of the Federal forces.

The slove statement is the substance of a dispatch said to have been published in the or Jefferson City. No doubt there is considerable reason in this coujecture. The rebais are fully slive to the political importance of the possession of Jefferson City, and have been casting a wisiful eye upon 8t. Louis for a long time; even threatening to make it their winter quarters, but if a movement is made now from the Mississippi it will be an effect ought, and not the rewall of a dolib east end proconcerted plan. Frement is pregated to follow Price and McCulicch to the Gulf of McLicc if necessary. If an attack is michiated from the brown which marched westward for the purpose, from Columbus and Belmont, it will be met by the columns which are preparing to descend the Musicaipit at Caffo. It accuss now impossible that any

Gen, Scott Insists on the Release of Col. Biatr.

[Dispatch to the Chicage Journal.]

It is stated that Gen. Scott has had an interview with the President in regard to the refused of Gen. Fressont to release Col. Biatr, who, it is said, as still confined.

Gen. Scott insists that his order for Col. Biatr's release, which was unconditional and peremptory, shall be immediately executed. The Administration has received no reason why he has not been released.

There is good reason to believe that the dispatch from New Orleans of October 4th, giving an account of works in progressed or received and the control of the c loch, with 25,000 men and eleven camon, within one day's march of Price, and that it we armics in conjunction would make signal and wait for Fremont.

The firing heard in the vicinity of Tiply caterday afternoon is reported to have are from a skirmish between a party of rebels u der Gen. Rains and some Federal run. This report needs confirmation as no in has arrived at Jefferson City from the west. Gen. Framont's future mevements are felicle to be sent by telegraph.

Shall we, blind and stupid with prejudice, besotted with partisanship and medium. Shall we, blind and stupid with prejudice, besotted with partisanship and mad with an ignoble and cowardly fear of impossible consequences, neglect to seize this golden opportunity? What matters it that we have belonged to this or that party? Our party platforms were not bullt with reference to the circumstances that now surround us. Let us reflect upon the magnitude and immensity of this great wrong that, for the first time in our history, is now with our power. We targiner to be a proper with our power. We targiner to be a proper with our power. We targiner to be a proper with our power. We targiner to be a proper with our power. We targiner to be a proper with our power. We targiner to be a proper with our power. We targiner to be a proper with our power. We targiner to be a proper with our power. We targiner to be a proper with our power. We targiner to be a proper with our power. We targiner to be a proper to be a pro round us. Let us reflect upon the magnitude and immensity of this great wrong that, for the first time in our history, in now within our power. We isrbear to speak of the well known horrors and miseries that are always necessarily attendant upon it. It is this moment threatening our national existence. It is over-cur Government, paralyzing our fatten.

The 10th Maine regiment, Col. George L. the semp of instruction on Long Island, and the 11th and 12th are organizing at heme. The 8th and 10th Connecticut regiments are expected at Camp Winfield Scott, on Long Island, this week, and the 9th regiment will pass directly through to Washington. Gov. Buckingham is organizing more regiments, staff, commerce, assorbing our wants, accused and as tendered the command of the liths of the standard over all the land. It is the great manapering of this rebellion. It brought it forth, and has fed and nourished it till it has assumed gigantic proportions. It stands now a barrier to the success of our armies—a fastal blight upon all our efforts—a ghastly vampire that sucks out by its hide-ous influences the vigor and energy of our public servants! We appeal to every loyal man to arrost the evil. Some have apologized for it in time of peace, from motives of loyalty. From these same motives a bleeding country calls upon them now to crush it. If to preserve peace, to promote friendly relations, to ensure the stability of the Government, you have honcestly felt called upon to uphold, as one of the compromises of the Constitution, an institution that you would otherwise have condemned, will not these same patriotic sentiments now compel you to yield up everything for the preservation of the Government. If slavery, stands in the way, shall it not go down? If the alternative is the Union or Slavery, which shall we choose? How much treasure must be expended, how great slaughter, how overwhelming run, before we can see clearly the issues involved in this contest?

But there is still a stronger side to this ancestion: It is not over mecessary that successary that the content of the companies of the third proposal to the standard proposa

East and West our Irish fellow citizens are organizing in regiments for the war, their rallying cry being "Corcoran" and "Mulligan." The gallantry of these leaders, both of whom are prisoners in the ers, both of whom are prisoners in the hands of the enemy, has stirred up the devotion of the Irish heart. In the East, the Irish brigade that was to have been Gen. Shields', but which will now probably herself released us from them. She has voluntarily refused any longer to demand them of us. Nay, more; she has taken up arms and is making war upon us, to compel us to become alien to those obligations. She has madly exonerated us from every duty, and wantonly discarded the protection of the Constitution. She

With a wheek they would strike the earth, and hore themselves into the earth like iron moles operated by steam.

The ambulances were not long idle. First came a man carried on a bianket, writhing with pain. He had received a shot in his stomach. Next, another who had lost an arm, and was fainting from loss of blood. Then came three or four alightly wounded, leaning on the shoulders of their commetes. Not far from me, is a little ravine, by three crobels, one dead, another of wing, and a third slightly wounded. The latter awa placed in an aunulance and carried to our hospital.

Away up the road, scattered on its sides, some aitting, some bying, were exhausted infantry men, meat of whom seemed totally unconcerned as to the strife; and ald other polats of a viewing distance, groups of uneagraged cavalry were viewing the strike with deep interest.

For thirty five minutes our battire with deep interest. The was peppered with abeli and shot, but we were unable to so more than slacken its fire.

It was the only well served place in the rebel fortifications, its shots doing all the artillery mischief to our side. When our shot became too hot for the gunners here. The rebel camp is situated on a high, steep elevation, known as Buffale Mill. It is lossed that an attacking force had to come directly under the guns and intruchments of the right of the camp to obtain even a view of the left.
The formation of the ground is particularly favorable for the formation of terraces, and the rebels had made good use of the advant agr. Their defenses rose one shove the other, and the rebels had made good use of the advant agr. Their defenses rose one shove the other, and the rebels had made good use of the safety of the left of the camp, and the lower tabove the camp. It was estimated, from the number of tents, that ten thomsand men held the posts. The sole attack contemplated was a directly in front, with artillery, the infantry to be used merely to protect the batteries.

THE FIRST DASH—A SALLAST CHARGE.
It was discovered that the rebels had pisced a large infantry force three fourths of a mile in front to dispute our approach. They say in sin before the hall side to the left. There was a Cabinet meeting this afternoon, in which the charges of Oct. Biair squared don.
Fromont, and the counter charges of Gen. Fromont, and the counter charges of Gen. Fromont, against Col. Biair, were under consideration. The principal charges against the commander are that he sacrificed Gen. Lyon; that he neglected to re-enforce Col. Mulligam when he had the power to do so, and kept Col. Mulligan's messeager, sent to sak aid, waiting three days before he saw him; that his expenditures of more were excessive and corrupt; that one member of his staff had a countest for the purchase of 500 mules; that he surrounded binnelf with corrupt and bad then, knowing them to be such; that he was he surrounded binaselt with corrupt and bad then, having them to be such; that he was inaccessible to Union men calling on business, to the great damage of the public inferent; that he willfully delayed assuming the duties after he was apported to the command in Miscouri. In less than ten minutes the rebels were driven to their entrenchments. Loomis inmediately moved rapidly forward, unlimbered his pieces, and gave them an invitation in the shape of eachel. The enemy ammediately responded with ten pounders, all of which fell short of our battery. In the mean time, Howe had discovered a favorable position very near to the enemy's first line of fortification, and, bold as a lion, dashed into it with his full battery. The first shot from his battery was greeted by a shout from our lisharty.

Down with his single gun followed Howe, and in a few minutes before, in fact, the retreating rebels had fairly reached the intremchments, our whole thirteen guns were banging murderous shot and shell at them. The rebols responsed with a even guns. Loomis now GEN. PREMONT WITHOUT AUTHORITY. mirderous and assent a tiem. In recom-ceptoned with accept guns. I st first took position on an eminence just in front of the reserve, and nearly a mile in the rear of our batteries; even there I could plainly perceive the white tents of the enemy, and are the shells whisting through the six. Every crack of a gun relied through the valleys, and re-chood upon the mountain sides. The reverberations were terrific, and the scene even at the distance one of exciting groudeur. After Loomis changed his position, I could see nothing but the white smoke rolling up against the breast of the mountains, nor hear any thing but the incessant roar of artillery.

[From the London Herald (Derbyte.)]

No one can fall to recogalize considerable astrateness in the suggestions of the Emperor of Russia. They can give no offence. The South is not in a position to take any. And the North will certainly not take his advice about stopping the fighting amiss, in its delight at his moral support of the Union, Between St. Petersburgh and Washington, there has always been a sneaking kindness. Extremes meet; and we can conceive pienty of reasons, which we do not care to state, why the Crur should prefer the Union intact, to two equal Confederacies. But we confess to a feeling of envy. Why has it been left to the Crar to be the only European sovereign to make known his feelings for the Americans? What is he to the

When complaints were made to Gen. Melga, Quartermaster General of the United States, he would reply that "lazee supplies were sent on a certain day," de. Hoping to find these supplies, the State authorities sent special agents to look them up, but all their efforts were of no avail, until a few days since some person discovered that a large amount of clothing was deposited in a wardowne up on the Kasawha, and the recent freshet in that river completely subrenged both wardones.

If there is any desire for fight in the rebels, it is very likely they will be gradified to-morrow, not only in front, but up and down the river. Desetera from the sebel camp and our seconds corroborate the opinion that the rebel army is not discovered either to advance upon our lines or to accept the proferred battle. The enemy is not discoverable in strength in front of our works south of the Fotomsc.

The Abbe Domenech has been affording rare sport to the Parisians. Last year he had printed, at the Emperor's expense, a volume containing 289 plates, for smaller of some rude drawings discovered in America, purporting to be the work of "les Peaux Rouges," with 119 pages of text, containing a learned notice of the ideography of the Red Indians. It would appear the Abbe does not know German, for, to his horror, on the publication of the drawings, they were at once seen to be the work of some German child in the backwoods, as amongst the designs occur several German words roughly written and wrongly spelf. Some lines which the Abbe described as signifying Divine chastisement by lightning, the child, by an inscription, testifies were meant for a samsage! Survey of first-class apartments for families Iwo Daily Connections from Harrisburg i We would particularly recommend an examin or stock before purchasing elsewhere, seps-gibl-ew inches marer the opposite sail and spike it down again. The inhabitants on the route turned out and assisted in the work, and by midnight (Sunday night) the thirty-tix miles of rail between Leeds Junction and Farmington had been Leeds Junction and Farmington had been changed to the narrow guage and a track of the narrow guage pattern had across the A. & K. road, connecting with the extension and making a continuous and independent line of road from Farmington to Lewiston, Sath and Perliand. Early Monday morning an engine run over the new road, and at noon the requisitarita'ns passed by the A. & K. road as anconceinedly as though the presence of such aroad was not known. It is to be presumed that Mr. Moses informed the officer on Monday morning, when he appeared to make service, that on no account should be think, of changing the guage of the road between Leeds Junction and Farmington as it then existed. He would have probably given bords that effairs should remain in state quo. As to have never proceedings under the statute, he merely says, with a sily movement of the eys, that the Androscoggin road does not come within the purview of the statute relating to "connecting" roads. "The oyster business of Baltimore exhibits a visible diminition in the number of vessels in ployed in bringing the biralves to this port the present season, owing to the blockade of the Virginia waters, from whence the best kinds are obtained, and the strict surveillance exercised over all vessels navigating Maryland waters. As a consequence a rise in prices may be expected soon. Last year about 300,000 busicles were brought to this city, thereby creating a trade valued at two million dollars. Over four hundred schooners and punggis were engaged in the business of their transportation upon the Chesapeake and its tributaries. Undoubtedly there is a failing off this season, but the trade has for at number of years past annually yielded employment to between four thousand and five thousand men, in the various capacities of locatmon, ourters, shockers, timers, packers, carpenters labor trade. The robbery is certainly a most startling one, to have been committed in broad day-light, in one of the rooms of a large hotel, compelling the thieves to pass through the balls, which are continually througed with guests, with so much money in their possession. No pains are being spared to discover the thieves. The police are continually on the alart, and we hope they will soon be brought to justice. In the meantime, no blame can attach to any parties, except to the lack of precaution dis-played by the agent himself in the temporary disposition of his treasure.
